

Faded Dream Fails To Erase Glitter Of Champions

Climaxing this year's highly successful basketball season, the Knights are caught by the TRUMPET camera during three high points of the exciting week.

Center, Art Margheim drives past a ratty St. Ambrose cage to score during Thursday night's 77-68 victory over the Bees.

Above, exultant Wartburg fans swarm over the Fox Coldhouse floor to lift Woody Steinhauer and other Knights to their shoulders following the St. Ambrose victory.

Number 21

Vote Thurs. On Changes In Elections

By Irma Niederwimmer
TRUMPET News Writer
Two revisions of election procedure to be presented at the Student Body meeting Thursday will attempt to strike out the present election for primaries and attempt a more fair procedure when using the preferential ballot.

One revision will attempt to repeal the amendment to the constitution, Article II, Section 2A, which makes it impossible to run for both senate and class president.

Vogel Shies Value
"If this impractical and inconvenient amendment is repealed," Bob Vogel, Elections Committee head, stated, "students can seek exactly the office desired, senate or presidency."

The other revision will allow for the insertion of a sentence to Article IV, Section 6, which will make possible a more fair procedure if using the preferential ballot.

Names Listed Twice
In the Student Body President election this spring names of candidates will probably be listed twice on the ballot, according to Vogel, making it possible to vote separately for president and vice president.

This way, the preferred candidate for vice president would win. Correct procedure for counting votes for vice president is definitely limited without this revision.

Gremmels To Return

Bob Gremmels, '52 Wartburg graduate and former TRUMPET editor, will be on campus next week in connection with his work for Lutheran Standard, the weekly American Lutheran Church magazine published in Columbus, Ohio.

Tex Beneke Here Mar. 29

Tex Beneke is coming to Wartburg March 29. Student Body vote favoring the measure was taken Thursday. Balloting ran 353 to 31 for bringing the popular band to Wartburg for a two-hour concert.
Proceeds, after expenses, will go toward the Student Body Project. Following questions on the legality of a poll Wednesday during a hastily called Student Body meeting, the Student Senate Executive Committee authorized a second vote in another special Student Body meeting Thursday. Both votes approved the move by large majorities.
Expenses for the Tuesday night concert, a $700 stipend to the Beneke organization and $100 for advertising, will be underwritten by the Student Body Project.

Pops To Return For 3rd Performance

A. Fiedler Will Wield Orchestra Baton On Knights Gym Stage Friday At 8

By Shirley Sekas
Feature Editor, TRUMPET

Appearing for the third consecutive year on the Wartburg campus, Boston Pops Orchestra, under the direction of Arthur Fiedler, will perform in Knights Gymnasium March 11 at 8 p.m.

Waverly is one of over sixty cities in which the Pops will be featured during the 1955 season.

Debussy Work Featured

This year's program will include such favorite compositions as "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, "Capriccio Espagnol" by Rimsky-Korsakov, Overture to "The Fireman" by Strauss, "Waltz Medley" by Rodgers and "TV-ans" arranged by Hayman.

Originally founded in 1885, the Pops has been conducted by Fiedler, the handsome, dynamic leader of the organization, since 1930. Fiedler has made the name Pops a national synonym for light, enjoyable, classical music, combining his serious musical talents with a spark that has endeared him to the hearts of Boston audiences.

Fiedler Has Guest Appearances

Among his appearances as guest conductor, Fiedler has appeared with the Montreal, Minneapolis, San Francisco and San Antonio symphonies, as well as at the Hollywood Bowl and numerous radio and television appearances.

Awarded a Gold Recording by RCA Victor for the 1,000,000th copy sold of the record, "Jealousy," Arthur Fiedler and the Pops became the first Red Seal orchestra in history to sell over a million copies of a single record. Fiedler and the Pops have also been listed as recording 16 out of 101 "All Time Best Selling Records" for RCA Victor.

Slenczynska Pianist

Ruth Slenczynska, piano soloist with the Boston Pops Tour Orchestra, will play "Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini" by Rachmaninoff. She has previously been engaged by such major orchestras as the San Francisco, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Detroit and Cleveland symphonies and in Europe by the Budapest Opera Orchestra and the Paris Symphony.

Chairman of the Artist Series Committee, Dr. A. W. Svensen reported that ticket sales thus far have been excellent.

Boston Pops Orchestra

Seminary Chorus In Oelwein Tomorrow

Wartburg Seminary Male Chorus, preparing for its annual spring tour through Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota and Iowa, will make a pre-tour appearance at Zion Lutheran church in Oelwein tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Directing the chorus is Dr. Albert A. Japow, professor of historical theology, while Robert Lehmann, a senior from New Richmond, Minn., is assistant director.

According to John Kelley, mid-dler from Davenport and the tour manager, the 14-concert tour will cover approximately 2,400 miles.

Another nearby appearance will be at St. John Lutheran Church at Clarksville on Tuesday, March 22, at 8 p.m. This will be the last concert of the 12-day tour.

Poetry Deadline Set For March 20

Deadline for entries submitted to the Iowa Poetry Day Association has been set for Sunday, March 20, according to Miss Margaret Wolff, local association representative.

All Wartburg undergraduates are eligible to enter and are urged to check their entries with Miss Wolff in the past three years. Wartburg students have placed three firsts in the competitions.

Entries must be original work which has not been published or entered in any other contest. Winners will receive certificates of award for himself, instructor and school. Pops selected will be published this spring.

Dr. Forell In Tues. Convo

Dr. George Forell, instructor in the School of Religion at the State University of Iowa and featured speaker during Wartburg's Spiritual Emphasis Week in 1954, will address Tuesday's convocation in Knights Gymnasium.

A native of Germany, Dr. Forell has studied philosophy and theology at the University of Vienna. He came to the United States in 1939 to continue his studies at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia and received his Ph.D. degree at Union Theological Seminary.

Author of several books and regular contributor to religious magazines, Dr. Forell has taught at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn.

He has been a news analyst for a Minnesota radio station, and has served as an instructor in the United Nations institute of the Polke Bernadotte foundation.

THE WARTBURG TRUMPET
Saturday, March 5, 1955 — Waverly, Iowa

Convocation was the setting of two elections this past week.

Both ballots concerned the same subject—contracting Tex Beneke and his orchestra for a concert on March 29. Both ballots were overwhelmingly in favor of bringing the Beneke concert on campus.

However, more was involved on these two slips of paper than simply accepting a swing concert at Wartburg.

Beneke's appearance will be another big step toward the broad and balanced education that a liberal arts college is expected to feature. Swings, out of the horn instead of the juke box, is one musical field that has been neglected far too long on Wartburg's campus, even though it is one of America's major contributions to the world of sharps and flats.

Yet, this situation has an ethical magnitude which cannot evade examination. First, does Wartburg Body Project Committee have the right to speculate with student money that was previously given without any knowledge of this event?

Since those who donated to the student body project for a foreign student scholarship had no revelation of the sudden venture, it is a grave miscarriage of political ethics to suddenly propose a speculation which could easily fall flat on its contract.

The hurry-up-and-get-this-passed-before-the-newsline-by ideology which nurtured the original ballot is not now, and never will be, good soil in which the democratic method can sink its roots. Democracy is by nature slow . . . try to shove it into overdrive and you're in danger of losing the whole transmission.

Second, the $700 contract, plus $100 worth of advertising, theoretically raises the project minimum to $2,400 rather than the original $1,600. This is a purely theoretical argument and will not hold true if the concert proves to be an outstanding financial success.

With the brief period of time left for publicity purposes to pull the necessary outside public, however, this is not the soundest financial venture. If the audience does not pay the bill, the student body project has suffered a major setback.

One point remains that comes home with a bang if soundly analyzed. Before voting, it was pointed out to the students that the minimum charge per person would be at least one dollar. Now look back over some of the events of the past year or more.

Two lectures have been offered at 50 cents apiece. A Wartburg Choir concert tagged the students for the same figure. Last year, a dramatic reading was produced for the same fee.

What happened? Either the students didn't show up at all, or the price gripes could be heard reverberating from one end of the campus to the other.

Fifty per cent of the student body voted in Thursday's election. Eighty per cent of that vote favored the Beneke concert. Although this does not represent a majority of the students, it does show that the voiced opinion accepted the swing band by a landslide.

Whether you like it or not, this places a weighted obligation on every Wartburg student's Dry Run on a ramp. Dekson drove his low slung Stude through it the other day. He is now the proud owner of the most portable swimming pool in the state.

We voted for the student body project. We voted for Beneke. Make sure we back them both.

Footnotes To Faith:

Make Faith Uppermost

By Howard Bunting

I have been reading this article about things that appeared in the TRUMPET. Only last week did it dawn on me that the title, Footnotes To Faith, was under for topics that have appeared under this heading.

That it is misleading if you look at it through the light that occurred to me.

A footnote is a reference that we find at the bottom of a page, leading the reader to another source of information. This information will clarify or throw light on the statement footnoted.

In your faith, something which lies at the bottom of your life? Is your faith something which puts you down, that makes you discouraged, that causes you to want to give up if it is, then it is a real and living faith.

Faith should always be at the top. It should be a force, even as though the road be a hard one to travel.

Faith, should take us up; it should make us want to go ahead. Faith should encourage us. Faith should leave us with peace of mind.

Faith should be a footnote, added to it. It should be the source of information which will throw light on the things we are not sure we understand. That source is centered in the cross of Jesus Christ upon which we as Christians will be meditating during the next few weeks.

NATIONAL NOTIONS

Asian, African Meets Should Warn West

This week the eruption of a volcano on the island of Hawaii hit the headlines. This was nothing new or different to the Hawaiians because these islands consist of a series of slumbering volcanoes. A striking parallel may be drawn between these volcanoes and the volatile nations of southern Asia.

During the visit to Formosa he bluntly told Chiang that unless United States military commanders thought that future attacks on the islands were well-prepared to an all-out invasion of Formosa, the islands would be defended from a Red attack.

Furthermore, Chiang would not be allowed to counterattack the mainland in the event of such Red aggression.

This might be called a sacrifice of position for peace. The strategic location of these islands in blocking Red trade would be given up for the sake of an armistice or a temporary ceasefire.

Such action would seriously affect the morale of the United States and foreign Nationalist sympathizers who have substantially contributed to Chiang's support.

In the eyes of these Asians this would be the second such setback for the Nationalist forces. The fact that the defense of these islands would involve an impossible expense of manpower and equipment, because of the unfavorable position of the islands, would be disregarded in view of the loss of face or prestige to the Nationals. This outcry would be disproportionate to the value of the islands.

Therefore, this sacrifice of position. Viet Nam, relic of a recent eruption of Red fire is now in the throes of a development program which involves the spending of millions of U.S. dollars. A large part of this program consists of railway construction. Poland, an iron-curtain country, has offered to build these railroads at prices which present heavy competition to French builders. Since U.S. dollars are backing the venture we might watch the pocket our dollars are headed for.

Long has the West put money into the Pacific area only in dribbling amounts. Lack of interest, poor diplomacy and bad policy have accounted for many losses. The Chinese fiasco is a prime example of our bungling. Western influence has fallen off in this area due to neglect by Britain and the United States.

Anthony Eden, in an attempt to better relations, is planning a tour of the south Asian capitals. If he is as successful as the Nixon was in South America, only benefits will be incurred.

The Western powers should take warning from a mass of representatives of the governments of Asia and African countries. This meeting which will be held in Bandung, Java, this April is to discuss a type of Monroe doctrine toward the Western and Communist blocs.

From all indications the cultures and interests represented will not be able to agree on more than vague generalities. The purpose of the meetings should make clear the fact that if we wish to lose our allies along the Indian Ocean we have only to neglect our Asian responsibilities.

'Savage' Ends Tonight After Successful 'First Nighter'

THE WARTBURG TRUMPET
Saturday, March 5, 1955 — Waverly, Iowa Page 3

By Nancy Grace and Ron Rerlitz
Opening Thursday night before a receptive "First Nighter" audience, the warmth and humor of John Patrick's superbly cast "The Curious Savage" will be presented in final performance tonight in the Little Theater at 8:15.

Employing new talent to the Little Theater boards intertwined with seasoned veterans, Director Charles Dickson coached his charges until living characters evolved. Functionally artistic set and lighting created suitable background for the comedy's active fulfillment.

Wuebena Mature

Tornie Wuebena, a senior and familiar name to Wartburgers, exhibited mature interpretation in her role as the curious Mrs. Savage and reached her zenith in the final act. Especially noteworthy were the naturalness of her facial features and accompanying gestures coupled with her understanding of the lines.

Lovable, loving Fairy Mae was probably the most memorable and outstanding character. She was delightfully portrayed by Audrey Benson, a freshman new-comer to Wartburg's stage. Though lacking the poise of experience, the effectiveness of her portrayal was stimulating.

Silence and action spoke well for freshman Olinda Dokes in the part of Mrs. Paddy, a woman of wit and charm. Her performance was much improved after senior Joe Siplon endorsed himself to the audience as Ibrahim, a jovial self-deceived musician.

Haver Uses Taste

Using taste in his representation of the shy Jeffrey, Jerry Haver, senior, maintained his natural style. Efficiency and confidence of the nurse Miss Willy was warmly expressed by freshman Anne Beem.

The three rapacious Savages established themselves as villains through unkind greediness. The bustling Senator Tius was comically executed by freshman Ambler and became the epitome of all political impostors.

Con Groenick, senior, displayed versatility in his acting ability as the titillating Samuel. Costuming and makeup accentuated the nobility of Lily Belle, voiced by Lois Lehmann, sophomore. Rounding out the cast were freshman Chic Bevard as P'Geneve and Gerald Dietrich as Dr. Emmett.

First Nighters enjoying coffee on the Little Theater stage following the premier performance of "The Curious Savage" take an exuberant double-take as the Thursday night basketball victory over St. Ambrose is announced.

Old Main Moves To L.T. Monday Eve For Combined Recital Of Voice, Piano

Wartburg voice and piano students will be presented in a recital Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theater.

Appearing on the program will be five piano students of Miss Jean Armstrong. Mildred Schulz, senior, will play Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in D Minor" (W.T.C.M.) and Janice Goodman, senior, will play "Hunting Song" from the Forest Scenes, Op. 82 by Schumann.

To Feature 3 Sonatas

Three Beethoven sonatas will complete this portion. Ruth Weidner, freshman, will play the first movement of "Sonata in A Major," Op. 2, No. 2; Virginia Carlson, the last movement of "Sonata in C Major," Op. 13; and Bernice Schulz, sophomore, the first movement of "Sonata in G Major," Op. 14, No. 2.

Included in the recital will be four voice students of Dr. Robert Larson. Two selections by Handel will begin the section.

Senior Paul Baehman will sing the tenor solo "Gentle Airs, Melodious Strains," and freshman Sharon Folkerts will sing the soprano solo, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair."

A tenor solo, Schubert's "Ihr Bild," will be sung by Dennis Larson, sophomore, and a soprano solo, "The Crying of Water," by Campbell-Timmon, will be sung by Janice Helmke, freshman.

Gilow To Take Post In SUI Chem Dept.

Helmuth Gilow, senior, has been awarded a teaching assistantship for one year in the Chemistry Department at the State University of Iowa, according to Dr. A. W. Swensen of the Chemistry Department.

A chemistry major, Gilow will assume his position beginning in September of this year.

THE TRUMPET RECOMMENDS Gilbert-Sullivan Charming

By Don Oberdorfer
New Year's morning, 1880, the strains of "Hail, hail the king's all here!" first reached the ears of the American public. This charming melody first introduced to the world the great team of Gilbert and Sullivan.

One must look to the lyrics of their musical comedies to find out exactly who Gilbert and Sullivan wrote as they did. The G and S operettas contain lovely music and often hilarious plots, but more than that is contained in the words.

A close look at the lyrics reveals a deep satire on the various aspects of life which are treated. In the "Pirates of Penzance," we see a satire on England's "Bobbies."

To see how these plots are designed, let us examine the "Mikado." The scene opens in the courtyard of the Mikado's palace in Japan. Lords and ladies are gathered in the court, loudly proclaiming their greatness.

Suddenly, a handsome young troubador breaks in on this scene and begins singing a doleful aria which proclaims that he is madly in love with Yum Yum, the heroine. Yum Yum is slated to marry the Lord High Executioner.

She enters and immediately recognizes her lover, Nanki Poo, the son of the Mikado, who has fled from court in order to retain his bachelorhood. The girl whom he is supposed to marry is greatly disturbed over this change of plans but does not give up hope of regaining her perjured lover.

All goes well between the two lovers until the Lord High Executioner finds them existing in public.

A custom in Japan decreed that any man caught flirting or winking, unless he is married, must have his head mown off. Since the Lord High Executioner has been reluctant to do this, he now finds himself in a tough situation because the Mikado is coming to see if this order has been carried out.

Nanki Poo volunteers his services if he will be allowed to marry Yum Yum before he dies. The execution day arrives and along with it the Mikado.

An uproar ensues with the result that the two lovers are married and the executioner must be content with the boy's previous frame. Thus, in one of the grandest Gilbert and Sullivan, all ends well.

Coach Bundgaard To Leave; Campbell Hired

By Sten Vogel
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Coach A. C. Bundgaard, Wartburg's head basketball and track mentor, will take a year's leave of absence next school year, and Bob Campbell, former Knight star, will join the coaching staff. The alterations were officially announced Wednesday.

Bundgaard will complete work on his doctor's degree at the State University of Iowa, and will be employed as an assistant coach, assuming head position at the freshman squad at the university.

Basketball next year at Wartburg will be taken over by Earnest Oppermann, presently head baseball and assistant basketball coach. Campbell will join the staff in September as head track coach and assistant in basketball and football.

Campbell To Get Masters

Expecting to receive his master's degree at Iowa this August, Campbell is serving as head coach at St. Mary's High of Iowa City, which plays at University High.

While in Iowa City, Campbell, which tracks in sub-state competition next week, has acquired a 23-2 record.

Campbell was co-captain of Wartburg's 1952 Iowa State conference champs with Paul Olson of Geneva.

Bundgaard has been a coach here since 1947. During his reign, Wartburg has won two Iowa Conference championships (1952-'53 and 1954-'55) and compiled a record of 96 wins and 72 losses.

First Three Losing Seasons

Thirty-five of the setbacks were encountered by his first three years, and during the last three years, Coach's Knights of the last five years have netted Wartburg over half of the school's wins since basketball was initiated in 1935.

This year's team (17-9) marks the second time Wartburg has been represented in an NAIA tournament.

In addition to coaching basketball at Wartburg, Coach Ak is assistant football at St. Benedict's, where he is head of physical education. A former football, wrestling, golf and assistant track coach, will assume the duties of the latter department next year.

Matmen Face Luther Tonight After Pinning Loras, 18-12

By John Polis
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Knight matmen meet the Luther Norskies on the local mats in the last Wartburg squad performance of the season at 8 tonight after stretching their victory string to three with an 18-12 win over Loras College last Saturday.

Entering tonight's meet with a record of four victories and four defeats, the Jomies will attempt to finish above the 500 mark.

Luther, which has lost only to Loras, Teachers College, Buena Vista, and Wartburg, boasts a rugged assemblage of musclemen who have had little trouble in soundly thrashing any of its opponents.

Wartburg, Luther tie

Last year Luther and Wartburg tied for conference championship laurels. Because of the small representation of wrestling teams in the Iowa Conference this year—three—the conference meet will be held. As a result, the Jomies are concerned, the meet tonight should decide the would-be champion.

The undefeated twosome, Paul Reysels, who will be representing the 137-pounders, and Arnie Brandt, a featherweight 177, will be going after their eighth victories. Arnie had little trouble last Saturday as he flattened his opponent

Langrock To Interpret Co-Ed Volleyball Rules

Interpretation and demonstration of co-ed intramural volleyball rules will be shown by Miss Adeline Langrock Monday night in Knights Gym at 9, according to IM committee chairman Vic Pinks.

'W' Club Decorates Basement Takes First Gym With Banners With 9-0 League Mark Sparked By Vollmer's 92

Wishing to decorate Knights Gymnasium properly as the "finest in the conference," Wartburg lettermen recently placed large tempered wood pennants of all local member teams above both permanent bleacher sections.

Cost of the colorful banners, nearly $50, was raised by "W" Club members from refreshment sales at basketball games and special projects such as picking out this fall.

Basement Takes First With 9-0 League Mark Sparked By Vollmer's 92

Grossman Basement captured top honors in American League competition, posting a 9-0 record over its rivals in quest of intramural basketball championship laurels.

Led by Dick Vollmer's season total of 92 points, the basementites presented a balanced attack with four other players hitting over forty markers for the season. The nearest challenger, Alpha House, finished with an 8-1 record.

In the National League, the drive for first ended in a two-way tie with Waverly 1 and Saints looking horns in a playoff deal. Although the Saints were able to nip their opponents in regular season play, they were soundly thrashed in the championship playoffs, 56-32.

Wartburg's "B" team, guided by assistant coach Earnest Oppermann, snapped a three-game losing streak at Upper Iowa Tuesday night, 8-4-83, to finish the season with a 10-4 record.

The victory gave the Knights' understudies losses to only Grinnell, Luther, Loras and Iowa State Teachers College.

Grinnell Escapes

Grinnell poses as the lone team to evade a defeat at the hands of Wartburg's yeardlings. The locals split with Luther, Loras and UIU. Starting off the season with six straight victories and reaching its peak with twin presences, Grinnell won't give up its streak.

Pitchers, Catchers Begin Limbering Up For Diamond Drills

With a few pitchers and catchers already attending afternoon warm-ups, head baseball coach Earnie Oppermann plans to start holding daily practice sessions as soon as the basketball season is over.

Because many baseball players are out for basketball and with Coach Oppermann continuing his assistant coaching position, no regular baseball workouts have been scheduled.

Oppermann expects many new comers to appear in the Knights practice field when sessions eventually begin.

Knight's Retaliates

Retaliating momentarily with double victories over Buena Vista and another over Loras, Wartburg encountered a threesome of misfortune before squeezing by Upper Iowa for a second time to end the campaign.

The team averaged 72 points per game compared to a meager 59 for its opponents. Scoring was sparked by Fritz Frischel (117), freshman Don Hamilton (115) and Mel Trahn (69).
